Parolee Tells Police Of
Two Slayings

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — "Everybody can sleep a little easier," said Police Chief Harold Breier after police charged a factory worker in a series of slayings that had terrorized residential areas in Milwaukee.

Michael J. Herrington, 23, accompanied to Milwaukee County Court by his pregnant wife, was charged Friday night with slaying a 10-year-old girl Sept. 4, an 18-year-old waitress Oct. 17 and with attempted murder of an 11-year-old girl Friday morning.

Breier said Herrington, identified as a parolee from Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary, had admitted two slayings for which he was charged with first-degree murder, and the latest assault whose victim was reported in satisfactory condition.

Herrington accompanied police to the sites of the attacks on the city's near West Side.

The series of assaults had resulted in demands for increased police protection, a campaign to have porch lights burning all night, and a request by the city that youngsters make Halloween trick-or-treat rounds before dark.

NO ANSWERS
A candidate in the Nov. 3 election said he could not get responses at front doors during a door-to-door campaign.

Gordon Beckwith, 43, father of one of the victims, said after the arrest that his "family is much relieved tonight, even though there is no positive proof. For the first time since our daughter's death, we let one of our other girls out visiting after dark."

Mrs. Gerald Dreyer, 35, mother of the latest victim, said she would continue to be fearful when any of her five children leave home, but added that "now perhaps people can sleep nights."

Herrington had been questioned in the beating and stabbing of Julia Beckwith, 10, whose body was found Sept. 4 in a vacant lot near her home after she had gone on an errand for a sister.

The body of waitress Sherryl Thompson was found Oct. 17. She had been stabbed 22 times, Breier said Herrington had admitted both slayings.

THIRD DEATH
Breier did not comment on the death Nov. 4 of Diane Olk-witz, 19, of Menomonee Falls who was stabbed more than 100 times. Menomonee Falls Police Chief Charles Kuhn said he planned to question Herrington.

Breier said Herrington admitted the slayings of the two girls. (See back page, sec. 1, col. 6)

Mothers Object To Closed Lot

Can't Park Near
'Y' Nursery School

Women attending physical fitness classes at the YWCA in St. Joseph aren't the only ones inconvenienced by the barricading of an adjacent parking lot.

Karl J. Benson has informed this newspaper that the 9:30 a.m. opening of the parking lot also poses a safety hazard. Benson said the YWCA also has nursery classes for three and four-year-old children at 9 a.m.

When the parking lot is closed until 9:30, mothers must park elsewhere and walk across streets, often with several children.

The parking lot is kept closed until 9:30 to provide spaces for shoppers as reported Friday in this newspaper.

Following is the text of Benson's letter to the editor: "Some of the women who object to having the empty parking lot next to the YWCA closed until 9:30 a.m. are bringing three and four year old children to the 9 a.m. nursery school classes. When classes started in September the lot was open before 9. Now the carloads of children must park across the street and walk across. Even crossing at an intersection is an unnecessary risk when one lady brings several children to school. The danger and difficulty will soon be increasing with ice, snow, cold, and darkness."

"My wife was the first to sign a petition for re-opening parking facilities. She is not enrolled in any fitness class. I object to your headline labeling the protests as 'nonsense.' I suggest that the ladies involved are more fit to comment on local affairs than you are."

Jews Blast
Nomination
Of Ex-Nazi

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of two of the largest Jewish organizations in the United States denounced Friday the nomination of a former Nazi as chancellor of West Germany.

The attacks came from Dr. Benjamin R. Epstein, national director of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, and Dr. John R. Slawson, executive vice president of the American Jewish Committee.

Referring to the selection of Kurt Georg Kiesinger as a possible successor to Ludwig Erhard, Epstein said the West German government "should demonstrate its pro-democratic allegiance by selecting a man who is not tainted by having served as a member of the Nazi party over a period of years."

'Friends' Attack GI Building

Bitter Feeling
Among Allies
In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Vietnamese rangers today assaulted a U.S. Special Forces building at Hon Quan, 70 miles north of Saigon, and two Americans were wounded, reliable sources said.

Temper flared, informants said, after trouble had been building up between allied military men in the area over several days.

These sources said the rangers used two armored personnel carriers to knock down part of a wall at the recreation club used by the members of the Green Beret team stationed at Hon Quan, then fired into the building with automatic weapons.

No other details were immediately available. The U.S. military command in Saigon said it had no information on the incident.

About 70 Americans are stationed in the Hon Quan rubber plantation country north of Saigon. There are some 35 Special Forces men, 25 U.S. Air Force personnel and about eight civilians. Troops of the U.S. 1st Division normally are based in the area, but were moved a few days ago to join Operation Attleboro in Tay Ninh Province.

There have been reports of friction between some Vietnamese rangers and American troops in the region in the past few weeks. One account said an American soldier had been killed in a club there recently, and that a Vietnamese soldier had been beaten up in retaliation.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky was reported ready today to remove a flamboyant Vietnamese general from a vital command in the Mekong Delta.

Lt. Gen. Dang Van Quang controls the last large area in South Viet Nam where there are no major American military operations. He has been quoted as opposing putting U.S. troops in the delta.

Also regarded as a political threat by the Saigon regime, Quang is expected to be unseated because of widespread corruption in the 4th Corps area. He reportedly has turned down an offer to command the 2nd Army Corps headquartered in Pleiku in the central highlands.

Lt. Gen. Vinh Loc, 2nd Corps commander, has been ordered to the United States for medical treatment. Sources here said, however, the transfer was because of allegations of corruption and his dalliance with a night club singer. Loc has been in Saigon's Cong Hoa Hospital for three days and will not return to Pleiku, sources said.

ROYALIST GENERAL

He is one of the last members of old Vietnamese aristocracy in a high position here and is related to former Emperor Bao Dai. His critics accuse him of "royalist tendencies."

No U.S. official here would comment officially on what is considered a Vietnamese domestic matter but it was understood they at least tacitly support proposals to oust Quang.

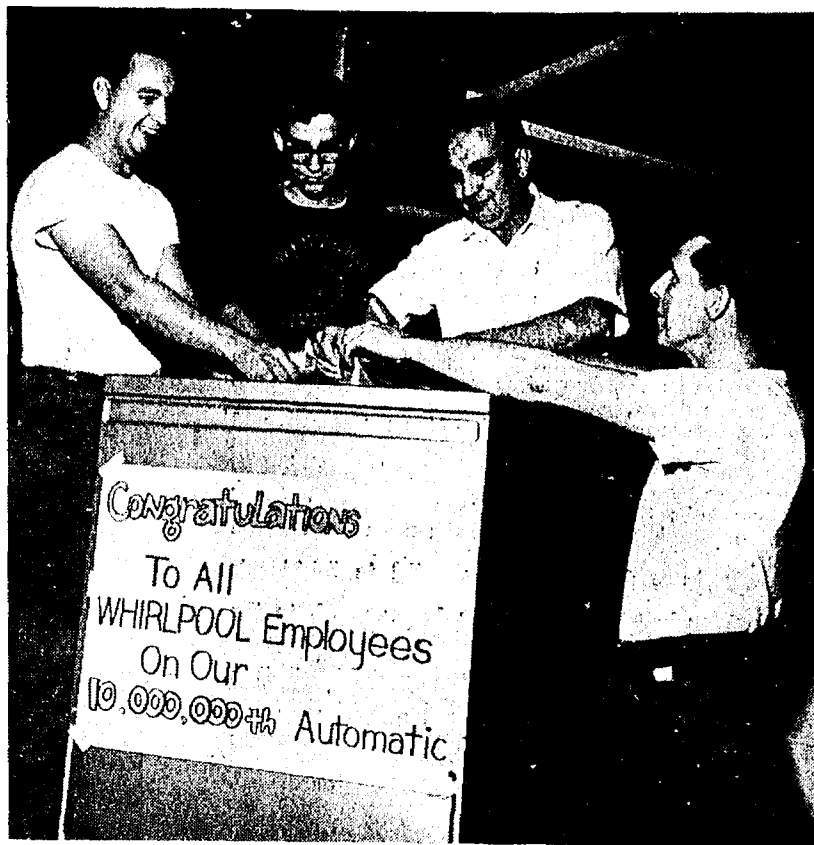

Viet Nam narrowly escaped civil war the last time Ky's junta replaced a corps commander.

Harry Joe Brown Still Cranking Out Westerns

'Hi There, Drop Them Guns!'

Well past three score and ten, Harry Joe Brown of Benton Harbor has just produced another wild west film. It took ten weeks of shooting to make "The Long Ride Home" with Glenn Ford, Inger Stevens and a big supporting cast. The scenes are laid in Arizona and Utah. This is one of the scores and scores of pictures that Harry Joe has produced that have brought fame and fortune to this Benton Harborite.

Fifty years ago Brown was playing stock in the East after graduating in law, which wasn't productive. Hollywood lured him on. He answered the summons—without a dollar in his pocket. In five years he was turning out wild west pictures, the theme being centered on novels that were patented. Picture by picture he lured big names and big names took notice of this growing producer. Today he's with Columbia Pictures Corporation.

Harry Joe today is one of the stars in Hollywood's doings. He sent this picture with a greeting of "This is how this old boy looks today. Always the best to you," he penned. "My best to all of you and I'm coming home just as soon as I can."

Mother Widowed 2nd Time By War

Both Husbands Leave Sons
They Never Saw

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Her first husband was killed in Viet Nam. She remarried, and her second husband was killed in Viet Nam.

She gave birth to two sons — one fathered by the first husband, the other by the second. Neither father lived to see his child.

Mrs. Bernard Kistler, 26, was informed of the death of her second husband only an hour after she gave birth to his son.

Today, Mrs. Kistler was coming out of the shock of the double tragedy in Meadville City Hospital.

Her first husband, Army Lt. William T. Reach of Ormond, Fla., was killed 22 months ago on a Viet Nam battlefield.

IN SHOCK
Mrs. Kistler was informed Thursday her second husband, also an Army lieutenant, had been killed in a Viet Cong attack.

Doctors said she lapsed into a severe shock when she heard of his death.

Today, a hospital spokesman said, "She's getting along as well as you could expect under the circumstances." She received visitors Friday.

The spokesman said the baby — still unnamed — was "doing real good."

Both of her husbands were graduates of West Point.

Defense Department sources said Kistler was killed when the Viet Cong attacked a helicopter landing zone with mortars, small arms and grenades.

SIMILAR DEATH

Reach was also awaiting aid from armed helicopters when he met death from Viet Cong troops coming from rice fields in an early-morning raid on his outpost.

Reach's body was found draped over a foxhole. He ap-

The former Rosemary B. Stone of Yonkers, N.Y., and Reach were married July 21, 1962, shortly after he graduated from West Point.

Kistler entered the Army in 1959 and attended West Point Preparatory School at Ft. Belvoir, Va., then went to West Point. He graduated June 9, 1965, and married Mrs. Reach Aug. 5, 1965. They lived in Meadville.

Calling Vashkovtsy Tool Plant: 'Where Are You?'

By JOHN WEYLAND
MOSCOW (AP) — There was something peculiar all right about the "Plant for the Manufacture of Hand Tools at Vashkovtsy" in the Ukraine.

It seldom responded to orders from Moscow in the proper manner — or it didn't respond at all.

It had no production figures, no cost estimates and no telephone numbers. Even its name was confused.

Small wonder, the magazine Krokodil said today in its latest issue. There was no such plant.

BUREAUCRATIC BLUNDER
Blaming the "soul-less machine" of big bureaucracy for the confusion, Krokodil gave this account:

The plant came under the Ministry of Municipal, Construction and Roadbuilding Machinery.

Its first deputy minister, V.K. Rostotsky instructed the plant over a year ago to send in information about its estimated production, labor needs and costs for 1966.

A little later A.N. Morozov, chief of construction machine supply for the ministry, requested the names and telephone numbers of executives in the supply department of the plant, along with the number of Telex machines installed.

MORE INSTRUCTIONS
On the same day Morozov got off another batch of instructions to the plant. These asked it to present no later than Dec. 20 orders for equipment for 1967.

The same Morozov letters demanded estimates for packing wood needs, to be filled out on Forms 62 and 63.

By June 20 the ministry said it still had not gotten the requested estimates for 1967. It complained the Vashkovtsy plant had not replied fully to correspondence from Moscow.

The head of the ministry, Ye. S. Novoselov, gave notice Jan. 6 that the name of the plant was being changed — to

Rebuilding From The Fire

Fourteen years ago the Republicans swept the boards, taking control of the Presidency and Congress and most everything else on down the line to a township highway commissioner. Only in the Southern states and in some big cities did the Democrats hold the fort.

Shortly after that holocaust Harry Truman, the outgoing President, and late Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House, met to discuss how best to repair the damage so as to be in shape to fight again on a later day.

The Truman-Rayburn formula was a simple one. Part of it consisted in laying back to see how a politically inexperienced President would react to subsequent developments. The other called for replacing gradually the leadership in various areas which the '52 campaign had revealed to be lacking in skill.

Getting rid of Adlai Stevenson as the standard bearer whom the man in the street never did comprehend was another section in their logbook which had to be passed over. The intellectuals were still in control of the party machinery and those two old pros did not think it wise to risk a public fight on what was a fairly obvious handicap to everyone but the Stevenson clique.

The reconstruction effort paid off as Truman and Rayburn planned it. The Democrats succeeded by 1960 in painting Ike and the G.O.P. as waiting for something to happen rather than seizing time and destiny by the forelock, and they rebuilt their teamwork in the manner of Ara Parseghian bringing Notre Dame back from the football doldrums.

That experience finds a spicy parallel in Michigan's politics.

The Tuesday balloting delivered a heavy punch to the Democratic leadership, sufficiently forceful for the party faithful to discuss openly what next should be done.

Secretly, no doubt, Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit is whispering "I said right along this could happen."

Cavanagh lost lopsidedly to Williams in the Senatorial primary because he was unable to convince many people that Soapy and his CIO supporters who have been the undisputed masters of the party since 1948 could be just a trifle winded.

This failure to guess along with Cavanagh was not confined to his own party, however. The Republicans fervently hoped the Detroit mayor would win the primary, figuring Soapy was the redoubtable candidate of old.

Contributing also to Cavanagh's discomfiture was the subtleness of his campaign theme.

Whereas Williams appealed openly on economic lines (the worker vs. the boss) and on a hopped up civil rights pitch, Cavanagh approached the problem as one of urban living vs. a horse and buggy government fighting a losing battle with that exceedingly complex question.

The argument is still so intangible that even though most Americans are urbanized today they hold back from discarding or substantially amending established institutions.

It is doubtful if any major party sustaining a major defeat would remold its leadership and thinking solely on the deftness of Cananagh's view of modern living. Instead the tendency is to look around for new faces just as the disappointed alumni of a major college start yelling for a new coach.

If that standard remedy is pursued and the latest press dispatches so indicate, then some relatively new names may be showing up soon.

One could be Cavanagh, although the width of the breach between him and the Williams faction rules against his selection as the party's official spokesman.

Another and perhaps the best bet would be Atty. General Frank Kelley. He survived the Republican sweep by a 50,000 majority this week. He has an engaging personality and a neutralist's advantage in not being spotted definitely as bearing allegiance to any particular group or line of thinking.

Another advantage is in holding an office constitutionally beyond control of other branches of the state government. This affords a vantage point from which the occupant can create his own team.

Altogether, Kelley would seem to be an ideal choice to create a badly needed New Look for Michigan Democrats.

Japan As An Ally

There is more than a touch of irony in the fact that two decades after World War II the Japanese are among the world's most anti-militarist people. Revulsion against militarism is so strong officers of the armed forces refuse to wear their uniforms to and from their Tokyo headquarters because of public animosity.

The irony is that a strong Japanese military establishment would be effective in helping the United States contain the spread of communism in Asia. Yet, it was the U.S., during the years of occupation, which encouraged anti-militarism and dictated the Japanese constitution which renounces war as an instrument of national policy.

Yet Japan is potentially America's best ace in the hole. With a gross national output of $86 billion (America's output is $622 billion) Japan is the only real industrial power in Asia and is about to replace West Germany as the third most productive nation on earth.

Last year Japan spent only $920 million for national defense. This amounted to barely one per cent of the gross national product. In contrast, the United States now is spending more than eight per cent of its product to support its military establishment.

Japan is in an ideal position to claim that it is merely following America's advice by refusing to build up its military establishment. But there are some indications that the government sees the signs of the times and knows that the signals are changing.

A new five-year plan calls for doubling the level of military spending. America's former enemy could become its most important ally before the Asian show is over.

Comes Now Politicare

The physicians of the nation are becoming more active in politics, and well they should. As educated, responsible, tax-paying members of society, it is only right that they should raise their voices in the public forum.

The Wall Street Journal quotes a Cincinnati surgeon: "Not a day goes by that I don't say something political to my patients, either a jibe or a direct expression of opinion or a discussion."

Will the AMA now come out with a stern pronouncement upon the length of time a doctor can ethically devote to patriotic discourse during an examination? Doctors are in short supply, and too much discussion could drastically reduce the available physician manhours.

Moreover, what happens if a leftleaning patient, being lectured by a doctor, suffers a heart attack? It would seem the clear duty of the doctor to provide free care in such a case, politicare, presumably.

The temperature once dropped to 81 degrees below zero in a town called Snag in the Yukon, the National Geographic says. No colder temperature has ever been recorded in Canada.

Sometimes it seems as if statesmen find two difficulties for every solution these says.

Inside Washington

By HENRY CATHCART

WASHINGTON—The workings of the mind of any man who may be in the running for president is of deep concern to official Washington. With this in mind, Washington is examining closely two facets of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's thinking process as revealed by a couple of answers he made during a political rally.

At one stop he was greeted with a shout: "Kennedy for President."

"I'm very pleased to come here and accept your nomination," he quipped. "However, there is one person I want to make sure you don't tell—and that is my younger brother."

In a more serious vein, a man in the audience asked: "What assurance can you give us that you will consider running for president in 1972?"

"Quite frankly," he replied, "I don't know. I don't think I can plan that far in advance. As long as I'm around on this globe, I'm going to continue in public life some way, but I don't know where That Man Way Up There is going to take me."

In sum, there was the Kennedy wit, a revealing bit of language about his own intention to seek the presidency, and thoughts of the totally unexpected end of his brother's life.

TRY AND STOP ME

Herbert Mayes, guiding genius for years of McCall's Magazine, recalls a day when he attended a meeting with Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt. A severe thunder storm swept over the city just as the meeting broke up, and as is usually the case when rain snarls traffic in midtown Manhattan, there wasn't a taxicab in sight. Mayes urged Mrs. F.D.R. to stay sheltered in the lobby while he braved the elements in search of transportation, but she wouldn't hear of it. "I don't mind getting wet," she told him. "Just let me show myself at the curb. Pretty soon somebody will come along and recognize me and offer us a lift." It took exactly 30 seconds for her prediction to come true—and the driver who proved to be the good Samaritan announced, "Having you in my car, Mrs. Roosevelt, is just about the proudest moment of my life."

speaking of YOUR HEALTH

By Lester L. Coleman, M. D.

A concentrated program to save the lives of unborn and newly born children and to reduce the hazards of pregnancy is in effect at the University of California School of medicine, Dr. Ernest W. Page, head of the department of obstetrics, says. "We obstetricians feel that the best way of reducing maternal and fetal disease is to offer high quality prenatal care early in pregnancy."

He believes that if all physicians could get pregnant women to cooperate there would be a tremendous decrease in infants born with a seriously low birth weight. This, of course, would diminish the number of children who cannot survive this handicap.

Dr. Page has adopted the following rules in an effort to guarantee greater health and security for both the mother and child.

1. All women are encouraged to see a doctor as early in pregnancy as possible. The first two or three months are vital if corrective and preventive measures are to be taken.
2. Adequate nutrition with vitamin, iron and protein supplements should be given to prevent malnutrition in the mother and secondary effects on the child.
3. The early detection of Rh problems prepares the doctor for unusual situations at the time of delivery. The new anti-Rh gamma globulin may give added protection.
4. From the medical point of view the obstetrician can diagnose twin pregnancies and can detect complications which need early and vigorous treatment. This program is stressed by health agencies all over the country who teach that early examination by the doctor gives the unborn child its greatest gift, a heritage of good health and freedom from avoidable physical handicaps.

The streptococcus, the culprit that causes rheumatic heart disease can now be detected by "fluorescent antibody microscopy." The key to the prevention of this disease and to the early recovery depends entirely on how quickly the condition can be diagnosed.

This method of early diagnosis is being used by the New York State Health Department. They are setting up statewide educational programs to train laboratory technicians in this new and exciting technique.

The bidding:

Opening lead—ace of hearts.

This hand occurred in the match between Argentina and the United States in 1958. At the first table, with a U.S. pair holding the North-South cards, the bidding went as shown.

North having limited his hand at one point by showing willingness to stop at two hearts, was then able to cuebid the ace of clubs and king of diamonds in an effort to cooperate with South's slam tries.

West led the ace of hearts and shifted to a diamond at trick two. Declarer took the diamond in dummy with the king, finessed the ten of hearts, cashed the ace of spades, ruffed a spade, cashed the ace of clubs, ruffed a club, ruffed the jack of spades, and ruffed another club. He then drew East's last trump to make the slam for a score of 1,430 points.

At the second table, the Argentine North-South pair also arrived at six hearts, but they went down one. The bidding went:

went:	North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1♥	Pass	Pass
3♥	Pass	4NT	Pass	Pass
5♦	Pass	6♥	Pass	Pass

West led the five of diamonds. South took it in dummy with the king and led a heart, finessing the ten. West won with the ace, returned a diamond which East ruffed, and South was down one.

Hands such as this one often make the difference between winning and losing an important match. There was a tremendous amount of luck involved in the deal, and the U.S. team had all the best of the luck.

The Argentines lost 1,530 points on this one hand, but the loss was distinctly out of proportion to whatever lack of skill their West displayed at the first table by leading the ace of hearts instead of a diamond.

Clearly, the punishment did not fit the crime.

BORN TODAY

The illegitimate son of a Georgian prince, Alexander Borodin was born in St. Petersburg in 1834. He was brought up in the medical and surgical professions and became assistant professor of chemistry at the St. Petersburg academy of medicine. He wrote several works on chemistry and took a leading part in advocating women's education, helping to found the school of medicine for women, and lecturing there from 1872 to his death.

However, Borodin is best known as a musician, his interest stimulated by his friendship with Balakirev, his marriage to an accomplished pianist, and the influence of Franz Liszt at Weimar. His first symphony was written in 1862-67; his opera, "Prince Igor," was begun in 1869 and left unfinished at his death (Rimsky-Korsakov and Glazunov completed it), but it attained wide popularity throughout Russia and its brilliant "Polovtsian Dances" became famous throughout Europe as a ballet number, and most recently as the haunting "Stranger in Paradise" from the Broadway show, "Kismet."

Though his total musical output was not large, it was sufficient to secure him a place among the most gifted and distinguished Russian composers of his period.

Others born this day include Princess Grace of Monaco, publisher DeWitt Wallace, actress Kim Hunter.

Those born Nov. 13 include authors Robert Louis Stevenson and Alexander King, St. Augustine, actors John Drew, Alexander Scourby and Oskar Werner, actress Jean Seberg.

Deadline For Viet Yule Mail

Mark It 'SAM' To Speed Delivery

First class mail headed for Viet Nam should be posted by Dec. 1 and air mail posted by Dec. 10 if it is to reach its destination by Christmas. Postmaster James O. Bowen, Benton Harbor, and Postmaster Robert McMullen, St. Joseph, have announced.

To speed up sorting and delivery of mail, packages and letters headed for Viet Nam should be marked "SAM" (which means surface airmail) according to the post offices.

Under a law signed by President Johnson recently, periodicals publications with current news interest to servicemen will now be airlifted to Viet Nam, McMullen and Bowen said.

Reminder Of Losses To Wars

Quiet Ceremony Is Held In B.H.

At 11 a.m. yesterday, some 30 persons gathered around the veterans' monument in front of Benton Harbor city hall and observed Veterans' Day under a chilled, cloudy sky. It was at 11 a.m., Nov. 11, 1918, that the Armistice treaty was signed in France to end World War I fighting.

Dean Kimmerly, trustee-elect of Lake Michigan college and personnel manager of Gast Manufacturing Corp., gave the address. He declared that a nation is only as great as its people.

In front of him, hearing the colors were representatives of American Legion Posts 105, Benton Harbor city hall and 362, Coloma; Disabled American Veterans, chapter 17, and its auxiliary; Amvets, post 88; and Veterans of Foreign Wars, post 1137.

Among citizens present was a World War I veteran in his still well-fitting uniform — 74-year-old Lyle Furlong of Riverside. He said he served in France during that war and now belongs to Veterans of World War I, Barracks 582.

Kimmerly, a veteran, cited Lincoln's call for reliance on the love of liberty in a nation whose main defense consists of the preservation of the spirit of liberty.

Also cited was a quote from the late President Kennedy to the effect that Americans must fulfill their ideals, before other nations will accept them as paramount to this nation's material wealth.

The invocation and benediction were given by James Lounsbury of American Legion Post 105, which acted as host to the event.

Tigers Win Over Union

Finish Long Season With 28-14 Romp

By JIM DELAND
Sports Editor

Benton Harbor's Tigers wrote a happy ending to a long season of frustration Friday night as they rolled up a 28-14 victory over Grand Rapids Union before a sparse crowd of supporters at Filtrup Field.

It was only the second victory of the campaign for coach Al Ratcliff's Tigers, but they did it up in style, piling up 395 yards rushing and passing—their biggest total of the year—while scoring once in each period.

"They deserve a little fun. . . They haven't had much this year," Ratcliff grinned after being treated to a post-game shower by his players. "But at least we had a football team in the second half of the season."

The contest was considerably less pleasant for coach Milo Sukup's visiting Red Hawks, who absorbed their ninth straight defeat—the first winless season in the school's history.

As it was, the Red Hawks were fortunate the margin was not much greater, as Benton Harbor fumbles and penalties aided the visitors in producing their two touchdowns.

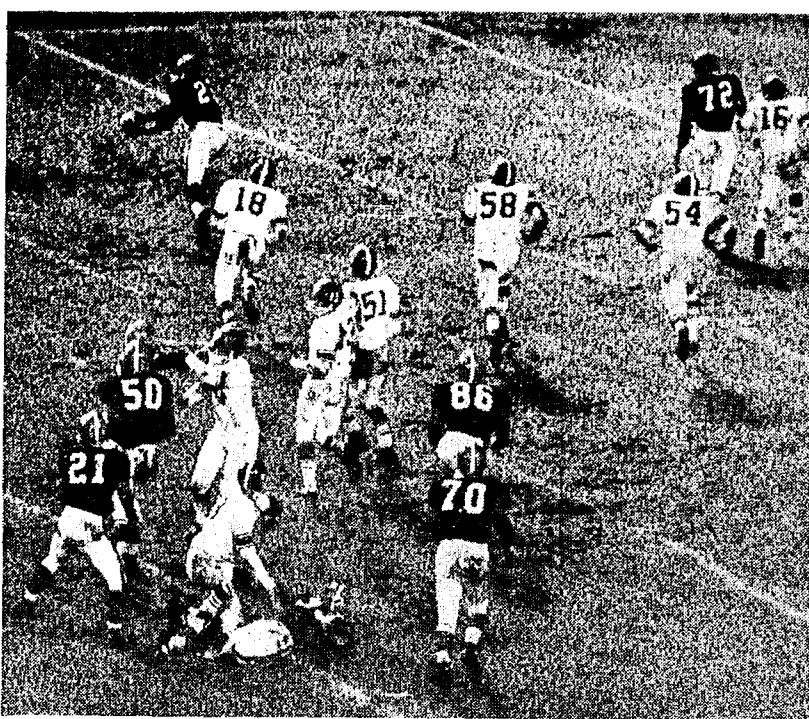

Five players got in the scoring act for Benton Harbor, with Larry Allen, Leroy Hull, Larry Froehlich and Cecil Young getting the touchdowns while Allen and Butch Hynd ning for his second PAT. Three 15-yard penalties against Benton Harbor aided the Red Hawks in their final scoring drive, which started at the Union 28 after the Tigers' only punt of the night. Sukup and Slanger accounted for much of the yardage by taking turns passing to each other, but little 130-pound halfback Andy Kanoza got the touchdown by darting 24 yards up the middle in a play that caught the Tigers napping. Kanoza also ran for the PAT.

Benton Harbor pulled some razzle-dazzle reverses to move 64 yards in the final 1:46, but Froehlich was stopped at the Union 18 as the game ended.

Bernie Kuschel and the Tiger marching band were honored during their halftime performance.

Streak Ends At 33

Dowagiac Stops Buchanan, 14-7!

By JAKE SHUBINSKI
Staff Sports Writer

BUCHANAN — Coach Doug Borgert's Buchanan Bucks flunked their semester finals here Friday night, 14-7.

The questions were given by coach Jack McAvoy's Dowagiac Chiefs and the Bucks just didn't have enough answers. The question that threw them most was

"How do you stop Jim Boyd?"

When class was dismissed, southwestern Michigan's longest winning streak was ended at 33 straight victories and the Chiefs became the first Michigan team to beat the Bucks in 46 games, which included three ties.

Not since the night of Sept. 13, 1963, had the Bucks lost a ball game. They dropped that one 3-0 to South Bend Clay on a field goal in the last 11 seconds of play.

On the following Friday night, the St. Joseph Bears and Bucks played to a 6-6 tie here. Seven nights later, the Bucks started their winning streak at Berrien Springs with a 33-0 triumph.

St. Joseph was the last Michigan team to beat the Bucks doing so by a 12-7 score in the second game of the 1961 season.

This was Dowagiac's first win over Buchanan since 1959. The two clubs played to a 13-13 tie in 1960.

The Dowagiac locker room was a mad-house after the game and the entire coaching staff got a shower fully dressed. McAvoy, before his dunking, called it a team victory but admitted that it was a good thing tailback Boyd was around.

"Jim's a fine football player. . . and that Curlic (Garrett) is another good one. . . both of these boys are fine college prospects," said the smiling coach.

"Our defense was great and the job done by Tim File and Vern Davis was wonderful," he said. File and Davis, along with George Murphy, made it almost impossible for Buck quarterback Chet Hankerson to pass accurately because of their rushing of the passer.

"They've come a long way and I'm proud of every one of those boys," said Borgert who "They've come a long way. . . everybody thought we would lose three or four games this season. This team has done a great job," Borgert said.

The game was only two minutes and 24 seconds old when Boyd broke off left tackle and ran 47 yards for a touchdown after which Gary Castle kicked the extra point that gave the Chiefs a 7-0 lead.

Boyd's run came on the sixth play of the game. Buchanan ran three plays and punted after taking the opening kickoff. On Dowagiac's first play, Garrett gained two yards then came Boyd's run. There wasn't a hand laid on Boyd as he went through the Buchanan line.

This was just the beginning for Boyd. Before the night was over he had carried the ball on 28 of Dowagiac's 55 running plays and gained 188 yards for a 6.7 average per carry.

Boyd didn't score again but he came within 15 yards of doing so late in the third quarter. He took a handoff from

IRISH POST 1st UNDEFEATED SEASON

Blank Galien 20-0 To Tie For Red Arrow Title

By PHIL SMITH
Staff Sports Writer

GALIEN — St. John's completed its first-ever undefeated football season here Friday night, but had to settle for a share of the Red Arrow conference championship.

The Irish defeated a stubborn Galien squad, 20-0, but Decatur's Raiders prevented the Irish from winning their first undisputed championship by knocking off Watervliet, 19-6, to tie for the title. Both teams posted a 6-0-2 league records.

The title share is only the second in Irish gridiron history, and both have come in St. John's first year in a league. The Irish tied Cassopolis for the crown in 1950, their initial season in the Little Eight.

Although St. John's ran up a huge 347-55 edge in total yardage, its victory was far from easy.

The Irish held Galien's ace halfback Larry Nekvasil to just 33 yards in 15 carries. But the Gael defense, also led by Nekvasil, held St. John's to one "break" touchdown until the final quarter and forced them to go to the air for two of their scores.

St. John's unusual score came on the first play after recovering a fumble on the Galien 37 midway in the first period.

On an attempted halfback pass play, Terry Mandarino bobbled the ball when it was pitched back to him. But Mandarino calmly picked up the loose ball as the Gael defense converged on him, spotted end Bill Flood all by himself some 25 yards downfield, and tossed the ball right into his arms. Not a soul was near Flood as he crossed the goal with his 21st reception and second touchdown pass of the season. John McDonald booted the PAT.

Galien halfback Jim Birdshaw took a pitchout on the first play after the kickoff and raced 41 yards to the St. John's 20, but an illegal procedure penalty nullified the gain. The Gaels never got past the St. John's 40 the rest of the way, crossing midfield only twice.

St. John's best sustained drive of the night went for naught when the first half clock ran out on the Irish at the Galien seven. The Irish had begun the march, which consumed over half of the second quarter, on their own 15.

Another Gael fumble late in the third period set up St. John's second touchdown. The Irish took over on the Galien 34 and moved to pay dirt in just six plays, with Mandarino going over from five yards out. McDonald's kick was short and wide to the left.

The Irish then took over after a Galien punt at their own 35, and drove to their final TD.

After moving for two first downs, the Irish found themselves with a fourth and two at the Galien 31. Quarterback Mark Cole lofted a short pass to end Gary Dibble, and Dibble rambled down the sideline into the end zone. It was the first pass he had caught all season.

St. John's had its most successful night of the season passing. Mandarino completed four of five for 88 yards and Cole connected on four of seven for 63 more. Flood, who had all but seven of St. John's pass receptions this season, caught six for 97 yards.

Halfback Bill Bowie, running exceptionally well at times, led Irish ground gainers with 61 yards in 18 carries. Fullback McDonald put in his usual steady game, gaining 53 yards in 15 attempts. Mandarino had one 32-yard scamper, while Cole gained 28 yards on four quarterback sneaks.

The Irish defense was again

Decatur Earns Title Share With 19-6 Win

DECATUR — Decatur won a share of its first football championship since resuming play in 1947 by downing Watervliet here Friday.

The win gives the Raiders an unbeaten string of eight straight which is also a modern Decatur record. The Raiders have had only three winning seasons in the past 19 years.

Broncos Win Harrier Title

CHICAGO (AP) — Reigning NCAA champion Western Michigan retained its team title and Olympian Oscar Moore of Southern Illinois easily won the individual crown in the Central Collegiate Conference (CCC) cross country meet Friday.

Moore and Sam Bair of Kent State made a two-man race of the five mile event which drew 15 schools.

Moore won by 30 yards in 24:48.2, building up a 50-yard lead over Bair with a 4:37 clocking and 9:38 for two miles. Bair made up some ground on the closing two miles, but couldn't overhaul Moore.

Western Michigan shaded Miami of Ohio by three points, 48 to 51. The winning Broncos' took third, fourth, ninth, 13th and 19th places among the 15 schools with full team entries.

Thomas recovered a Panther fumble on his own 35.

The Raiders then made it 13-0 at halftime on a second quarter TD pass of 10 yards from Newell to Thomas. It ended a 50-yard march.

Decatur ended its scoring in the fourth period when Newell went over on a one-yard quarterback sneak to end a 65-yard drive.

Watervliet followed with its only touchdown when fullback Ralph Yarborough capped a 60-yard drive with a one-yard TD run off tackle.

Pike, Newell and halfback John Carlson were named by Raterink as his outstanding runners. Newell had 80 yards in 12 carries, and Pike added 40 more.

Two linebackers, Decatur's Bill Flory and Watervliet's Joe Okay, were outstanding on defense. The Raiders also got help from 295-pound middle guard Ed Abshagen.

The score by quarters:

Decatur 7 0 0 6 — 19
Watervliet 0 0 0 6 — 6
Touchdowns: Decatur — Newell 2, Thomas, Watervliet — Yarborough, PAT; Decatur — Pike.
